UTeach answers the challenge for universities to train more science, mathematics, computer science, and engineering teachers by enabling students studying these disciplines to earn teaching credentials without additional time or cost beyond their degrees. A unique collaboration among colleges of science, education, and liberal arts, UTeach prepares teachers with deep content knowledge and proficiency with pedagogical strategies that promote student mastery of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) principles and concepts.

UTeach programs are currently active at 44 universities in 21 states and the District of Columbia, with a total enrollment of more than 6,800 students. Graduates of these programs are projected to teach more than 5 million secondary STEM students by 2020.
“To continue to cede our leadership in education is to cede our position in the world...America’s leadership tomorrow depends on how we educate our students today, especially in science, math and engineering.”

ANNUAL UTEACH GRADUATES NATIONWIDE

Cumulative national UTeach graduates 2,144
Graduates identified as underrepresented minorities 17%
Graduates entering teaching 87%
Graduates retained in teaching 76%
Graduates currently teaching in K–12 schools with a majority low-income population 66%

Based on 94% of the 2,144 UTeach graduates through Spring 2014 for whom information was available. Schools with a majority low-income population are defined as schools deemed eligible for Title I funding according to the National Center for Education Statistics, Elementary/Secondary Information System (EISI). EISI data were available for 81% of schools where UTeach graduates were employed.
